Closing Date: Will be open until a suitable candidate is identified.

Full Time Summer/Part Time Hourly Laboratory Assistant

The College of Veterinary Medicine Diagnostic Laboratory is hiring a student hourly employee to work in the Microbiology section starting this summer. We are offering Full Time Hourly employment through the summer, and approximately 10 hours a week during the school year, (this includes some weekends and holidays). This job requires extensive training and we want to hire students who can stay as long as possible. The main responsibilities include specimen set up, preparing reagents and media, reading antimicrobial susceptibilities and ID plates, and some computer functions, with future possibilities of working on microbiology cases. We are seeking those with an interest in the microbiology field and a strong science background. (BS preferred, but not required) Starting wages are dependent on experience and could increase annually. University of Illinois is an equal opportunity employer.
