

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCHER POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT- MCB 290

Department of Comparative Biosciences and Biochemistry and Beckman Institute
University of Illinois-Urbana Champaign

Membrane protein biochemistry laboratory working on various projects is looking for motivated MCB majors who are interested in doing research and getting credit under MCB 290. Positions are available starting summer 2012. The person is expected to be highly motivated and deeply interested in cytochrome P450s in eicosanoid synthesis, drug metabolism, nano-biotechnology or energy research.

Requirements: Highly motivated juniors with GPA (~ 3.3) keen to go to graduate school, pharmacy school, veterinary medicine school or medical school are welcome to apply. Sophomores with good GPA (3.3 and above) and keen to do research and willing to commit time in the junior and senior years are also welcome to apply.

PREFERRED SKILLS: Experience with standard molecular biology techniques and protein expression in E.coli. and other organisms are strongly preferred. High motivation and strong research ethics is required.

APPLICATION MATERIALS*: The application materials should be emailed as a single PDF file containing curriculum vitae, a list containing details of courses and grades and one paragraph on your reason for applying to this position.

CONTACT:

Aditi Das Ph.D.

aditidaslab@gmail.com